

Future Perfect Continuous

CEFR C1

Lesson Pack · summary, worksheet & answer key

Quick answer

The future perfect continuous (will have been + verb-ing) is for how long an action will have lasted by a future point. Use it for:

- 1 Duration up to a future moment — By May, I'll have been working here for ten years.

Form it with will have been + -ing. It's rare; for a completed result use the future perfect (I'll have finished).
